A pollution point is an area listed in the Zoning Ordinance as “environmentally adverse” or it has been determined by the Department of Planning and Community Development in consultation with the Department of Health Services that the use will result in the discharge of any of the chemicals listed in documents published by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) or if the development would be subject to EPA or EPD permitting or regulations.

PIPELINE REGULATIONS AMENDED: BUILDING SETBACKS EXTENDED

Zoning regulations related to set-back requirements for underground pipelines transporting hazardous materials have been amended to provide for a “Planning Area” within 300 ft. of the easement and a “Consultation Area” within 500 ft. of the easement.

Developed in consultation with (an internal) Environmental Justice Working Group (EJWG), the amendment provides for a review by the Fire Marshall and consultation with the EJWG within the planning area. The Amendment also provides for consultation with the pipeline company regarding potential adverse impacts.
